of Canada

A World of Opportunity

If you're a Certified General Accountant, your world has just expanded – again.

That's right. As a CGA you now have more career development and networking opportunities than ever before. Certified General Accountants Association of Canada (CGA-Canada) has partnered with CPA Australia to make holding a CGA designation even more valuable. A new agreement between these two leading accounting organizations means CGAs and members of CPA Australia can benefit from a world of opportunity, including reciprocal membership.

At CGA-Canada, we recognize that building international alliances with equally forward-thinking accounting bodies is essential, as more and more CGAs work internationally or for multinational firms. That's why we're pleased to offer the increased resources, profile and professional mobility that come with this alliance. CGA-Canada and CPA Australia are synonymous with professionalism, leadership and integrity – in finance, accounting and business – in more than 80 countries around the globe.

Thinking career advantage?

Think CGA.
